

WARDEN WILL OBSERVE GRAND JURY REFORMS

Charles Girardeau Will Hold a Conference With Prison Commissioners.

Charles B. Girardeau, newly named warden of the Fulton county convict camp, declared on Friday that he would hold a conference with the reformers recommended by the reorganizing committee just as soon as he had investigated all affairs and talked over the situation.

"We have a system of corrections and reward without the use of corporal punishment. We have to consult with the state prison commissioners."

"But, in the meantime, the whippings still go on, do they not?" "They are not half so many whippings per day now as there were even three weeks ago," said the warden. Girardeau began work in his office on January 15, having charge over accounts of the camps with the exception of the State Penitentiary. He stated that before the middle of December he had a conference with men and county commissioners to determine what investigation to make to the various camps and "see if there was any change."

EDGAR WATKINS HERE FOR COLLEGE MEETING

Edgar Watkins, special counsel for the Negroes in the South, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to attend the meeting of the organization of Negroes in the South, which is a member. He will leave today for a tour of the South, visiting cities involving railroad rights important to the Negroes in the commerce commission.

This trip will require three months, and the suits will be called in March.

In Illinois, one suit will be filed in Illinois and Ohio cities, one suit being filed in the states of Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma, decided on the trip.

Mr. Watkins states that his plan is to come home to the press this fall. He spent some time in Atlanta with members of his law firm, Watkins & Latimer, and will remain here from interstate commerce.

CITY LOSES BIG PART OF TRADE AT THE FORT

Atlanta merchants are displaying considerable alarm over the proposed order discontinuing the purchase in Atlanta of supplies for the supplies of the commissioners department.

It is the opinion of the commissioners department of the firm of Latimer, Watkins & Co. that the Atlanta market will decline and whether this condition continues, a large percentage of the supplies are to be sent elsewhere.

It was stated at Fort McPherson

Friday afternoon that the purchase of supplies for the commissioners department of Atlanta was purely a matter of convenience.

The commissioners department of the firm of Latimer, Watkins & Co. could be bought in New York and Atlanta.

Mr. Watkins states that his plan is to call a meeting of the members of the commission to discuss the matter.

RESURRECTING
RUSTY HATCHETS.

The Constitution's Washington correspondent reports that the political aftermath of the death of Senator Bacon is apt to provoke a long and violent political storm in Georgia, threatening to revive many of the old factional differences and much of the bitterness of the past.

The Constitution sincerely hopes this forecast will not be borne out by developments.

We need and should have political peace in Georgia.

We have had peace now for two years.

We have prospered under it.

Ancient foes have gotten together in constructive work for the state.

Statesmanship has had its chance as against factionalism.

Why not let sleeping dogs lie?

Why resurrect rusty hatchets?

Let's give prosperity a chance.

Let's give peace a chance.

Are any man's personal ambitions worth
the stringing of a whole state to fighting them?

We think not.

Let's have a continuation of the era of peace and prosperity in Georgia!

AT LEAST HE STAYS PUT.

Every American may not approve the Mexican policy of President Wilson. But no American can withhold admiration for the persistence and confidence and courage
the president has displayed in maintaining that policy. The text for these remarks is found in the rumor that the president would send troops across the border to demand the body of Benton, the Englishman assumedly slaughtered by Villa. The president when asked has replied that he will do no such thing; that when troops cross a frontier it means war; and that he does not mean to be driven into war until circumstances of a more serious nature impel him.

President Wilson is right. We confess we do not see the logical conclusion of a policy which appears to be one of negation.
But we have confidence enough in the president to believe that he will find a way out.
Croakers and critics have before rallied that he had reached the end of his row in the Mexican and other matters. And hardly were the words out of their mouths before he had given the situation a dexterous twist that meant at least a temporary solution.

Mr. Wilson stays put. It is refreshing to have in the white house a man of such backbone and vision, vision clear enough to distinguish between ghosts and the real thing.

A TANGLE NEARLY SOLVED.

Indications now point to a final compromise of the long controversy over the finance sheet, with the probabilities that disputing factions will unite in its passage on Monday. The agreements now nearing conclusion take care of the important improvements originally projected as well as the vital Whitehall street improvement.

It is to be hoped there will be no eleventh hour bubble, and that the sheet so long held up will quickly be passed up, releasing departments of the city generally from embarrassment and allowing property-owners and citizens generally to know exactly where they stand with regard to investments and expenditures.

The annual deadlock over the sheet has lasted longer than usual upon this occasion, and there has been little excuse for it. The inconvenience entailed and the incidental acrimony engendered are or should have been unnecessary. The whole procedure has been a petty exhibition, reflecting credit upon no one particularly and provoking profitless discussion. An illustration of the slack system under which Atlanta does business municipally-speaking, it is to be hoped will not soon be repeated.

THRESHING OLD STRAW.

The Constitution cannot see what is to be gained by the present controversy between Admiral Dewey and the German Admiral von Diederichs over the respective claims of the two during the Manila bay incident in the Spanish-American war.

We all know the situation was a tense

one. We all know that but for tact and firmness on part of Dewey, and the unostentatious friendship of England, that might have looked ugly for this country.

But what is the use of conjuring ghosts?

Admiral Dewey is a brave man and a great man.

But he is too much enamored of conversation.

This same trait causes him alienating the respect of the people when he first returned to America. Some misguided enthusiast proposed him as a presidential candidate,
it seems to have returned to plague him,
and us, in his utterances over ancient history.

Fortunately, Germany and America are too friendly to fear the effect of these word exchanges.

But what good they accomplish we confess our total inability to see.

WITH A GRAIN OF SALT.

One should take with salt the statement made before a New York legislative committee that fifty children in New York hospitals have been inoculated with serious diseases for experimental purposes.

Of course, anything is possible. But it is also true that the experimental abilities that enough capable physicians, however obscured, could be found to thus endanger the lives of patients.

Significantly, the charges come from a contingent of well-meaning but zealous folk who dream that medical science is so mun-erous with knowledge that any experiment inocivable from torture of man and beast, and that medical research is gradually cruel.

No person possessing a flicker of humanity wishes to see suffering needlessly visited upon a dumb animal. The thought of inflicting pain upon a helpless child or an animal admit of intolerable.

But we do not credit these hysterical and "soothing" recitations of midnight torture, or lives recklessly jeopardized, of physicians chainning up animals only to agonize them
and of similar wild "old wives' tales."

When it comes to claims between the momentarily-racked nerves of a rabbit, a horse or a lame pig and the death-bed of a child—we choose the former.

THE BIGNESS OF TAFT.

It will do every reader of this party
good to read the article of former President Taft in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post. He writes on the personal aspects of the presidency, and does so with a chatty, graceful and intuitive style on judicial channels. After concluding the article, the reader will find himself with a new respect for the difficulties of the office of president, a larger toleration for what ever men occupies it and a recognition of his own personal responsibility in the process.

A feature of Taft's deliverance of especial interest is the cordial terms in which he refers to Woodrow Wilson, and the candidor with which he outlines the obstacles confronting the foes of democracy. All unbiased people long have known that the final analysis Taft's record was not so catastrophic as ever ascribed to him, and one old elder remarked to a stranger who came rambling into his office: "Well, I'm not in the late rents' popularity." The "equine was a hewa justice, but he was a hewa honest man."

The Message.

I
Mister Shimp River.
Everwhere you goes
Please tell Miss Springtime
Ter come an' fawn a rose:

II.

Please, Mister Mockinbird.
Rise an' try wing;
Ax her, if you please, sing.
Aint it time to sing:

III.

Please, Mister High Sun.
Leave yo' winter-bed.
An' Miss Springtime turn her cheek
Kiss it till it's red:

IV.

Please, Mister Advertised.
Hes a somwhat lurid advertisement of a church service. It is from The Abilene Chieftain:

"Tearing tombstones, falling mountain,
opening graves, wailing manies,
heavy heavens and earth, heavy hearts,
and such associations with the Lord's second coming that many Christian people are coming to the Lord's second coming for it as instructed in the Bible.

What is the manner of the Lord's second coming? Will this earth ever be totally destroyed? Why should the Lord ever leave us? What has been the history of his coming? Is it a time to be dreaded? These and many other important questions will be definitely answered from the scriptures Sunday at 2 p. m.

Love's Loyalty.

I
I forsake you never—
I forsake you never and strife.
I am yours forever!
Love says to Life:

II.

Life to Love replying:
Through its peals and pain:
"On your bairn though dyin'
I shall live again!"

III.

The "Haliealis Folks."
Keen company, only, with Halliealis
failure—dear, when sports lifts it in elements! Even if you can't shoot ez day about you'll be shootin' ez
you can, and an' all you do highest hitte won't be too high for you. You'll be on raise ground ferver, when you're out of dust, and you'll sayin' "Good mornin' ter angels 'n' you would ter yo' own family, at home!"

Without a crisis Mexico would be a hopeless back number.

Villa has even pushed Huerta off the front page.

Brilliant Recital Given By Athens College Boy

The audience enjoyed an evening with works of medium difficulty; it takes real musicianship to interpret the Chopin Etude, and that was one of Hugh Hodges' in his recital at Cable Hall last Friday night, given by the Atlanta Musical association.

The concert was so beautiful that one of the listeners, the deacon in charge regards with reverence, and the attitude of the college boy.

His art is of the intellectual type, and he has a style which colors his music. He has judgment and a reserve of the pitfalls of the young artist.

The best known themes of the Chopin nocturnes were given with a touch which was like tenderness, and with all a poet's taste.

He played the Chopin Etude with great interest, and a reserve of the best moments had interesting contrast.

The performance of the ornate G-minor concerto was excellent, and many times to bow his acknowledgment of applause.

Both the concerto and the Chopin were from memory, and one of his

Muscle Food for the Hard Toiler

The muscle man has physically and nutritious food. He needs a concentrated food—a food that is also easily digested. And the price of the food must be cheap.

The muscle man that the hard needs a lot of meat (as many think), for they are other foods that are nutritious.

Take Spaghetti, for example. It package contains four pounds.

It is nutritious, because it is rich in gluten—it is easily digested, and a whole big family meal with a 16c package.

Try it often. Cook the spaghetti for minutes, then add your toppings.

Serve with powdered cheeses or bread and butter. Make soups, and sausages. Send for recipe book. 16c packages.

PACE MAY BE NAMED POLICE COMMISSIONER

Politicians Stirred by Report of Compromise in Seventh Ward Situation.

Unrested rumors that R. T. Pace, superintendent of the Atlanta Terminal company, will be the "compromised" candidate for election as police commissioner in political circles Friday members of the seventh ward delegation will insist on the election of Pace. They will have to fight the opposition of the other delegations, including Marceline Anderson, who will stand for re-election, but not with the independence of a voter, according to sources.

If Commissioner Anderson's name is placed in nomination, an interesting situation will develop. It will settle the question of the matter of waging nominations in the matter of controlling nominations as and actions in council.

Commissioner Anderson was a member of the school board from the seventh until late in December. He was seen recently at the school places with Police Commissioner J. N. McCleachers, who is now serving on the school board.

Commissioner Anderson was nominated before the election of the Armistead-Hughes-Brown ticket.

The line-up is said to be as follows:

McCleachers, Ashley Lee, Dallas, Johnson, Armistead, Humphreys, Reynolds, King, McDaniel, of Atlanta, and Claude

Heinz, Wardlaw, Alvernon, Hearn, Hall, Thomas, Nixon, White, Mason and Candler—13.

The eighth ward is divided between Hearn and Reynolds.

McCleachers, Haskin and others will be eliminated from the first ward. He will be supported by friends of his amendment to make the names of candidates in the Central Georgia printing salesman of this city, Mr. Melvin lives in Jasper Ga., and is well known.

SLATON NOT OPPOSED TO SCHOOL SURVEY; EXPLAINS POSITION

Superintendent W. M. Slaton of Atlanta's public school system, says that he is not opposed to a survey being made of the school system, but he thinks that such a survey should not be along the line of assumed legislation.

Superintendent Slaton makes his position clear in a statement to the press.

Writing the New York bureau of municipal research, Slaton says that he has been requested to make a survey of the public schools of Atlanta.

The petition to make a survey of the public schools of Atlanta was signed by citizens of the state as to how much money should be spent on the schools.

The petition represents the offer of friends to amend the bill so that it would not affect the condition of the schools and their needs just as they are.

FREIGHT RATE CASE HEARING POSTPONED

Three United States Judges Will Hear Case in Atlanta in April.

New Orleans, La., February 27.—(Special) The Georgia freight rates cases involving the Atlantic Coast Line, the Southern railway and the Central Georgia railway and the Georgia railroad commission, which were brought before the court of appeals in session here today for hearing in Atlanta circuit, Judge Pardee, Judge Georgia and Judge Grubb, of Alabama, and Judge Nichols, of Georgia, presided over the case up here today, will hear the case again.

The case was in trial here, but the court determined that it could not be heard properly at this time and ordered it adjourned.

Among the attorneys who were here to represent the railroads were:

K. L. Clark, of Atlanta, and Claude

Heinz, Wardlaw, Alvernon, Hearn,

Hall, Thomas, Nixon, White, Mason and Candler—13.

The eighth ward is divided between Hearn and Reynolds.

McCleachers, Haskin and others will be eliminated from the first ward. He will be supported by friends of his amendment to make the names of candidates in the Central Georgia printing salesman of this city, Mr. Melvin lives in Jasper Ga., and is well known.

DECISION RESERVED IN THE MELLON CASE

Washington, Feb. 27.—(Special) The question as to whether the grandparents shall rear the lad has been left to the courts of the state for a different opinion, lasting over a period of seven years. Twice the man who had the boy has sought the court.

The petition represents the rights of the boy have won their case. Once and again the court has ruled that the grandparents should rear the child in gaining possession of his child.

According to the petition filed by Richards, he had the boy for two years, the second son of Mrs. John E. Rich, the man who has had the boy since he was born.

Richards' lawyer said he had the boy for all possible assistance. Thursday afternoon he filed a petition for a survey of the schools of Atlanta I favored him with a copy of the survey of the schools of Atlanta as to how much money should be spent on the schools.

The petition represents the rights of the boy have won their case. Once and again the court has ruled that the grandparents should rear the child in gaining possession of his child.

ATTACH ON RICHARDS.

The present habeas corpus proceeding is the second one in which the court is involved in the case.

The petition represents the rights of the boy have won their case. Once and again the court has ruled that the grandparents should rear the child in gaining possession of his child.

According to the petition filed by Richards, he had the boy for two years, the second son of Mrs. John E. Rich, the man who has had the boy since he was born.

Richards' lawyer said he had the boy for all possible assistance. Thursday afternoon he filed a petition for a survey of the schools of Atlanta I favored him with a copy of the survey of the schools of Atlanta as to how much money should be spent on the schools.
